Dogwood Estates HOA
Electronic Notice Consent Form

By default, Washington state law (RCW 64.90.515) and our Bylaws require Dogwood Estates HOA to deliver meeting notices, budget communications, and violation notices by mail or personal delivery to each owner of record. This form allows an individual owner to elect electronic delivery instead. Completing this form is optional. If you do not complete it, you will continue to receive these notices by paper, which is your right under state law.

Important: consent is individual, not per household or per lot

If your lot has more than one owner of record, each owner must complete and sign a separate form to elect electronic delivery for themselves. An owner who does not sign will continue to receive paper notices, even if a co-owner on the same lot has elected electronic delivery. If two owners share the same email address, each owner still completes and signs a separate form, using that same address.
